HITLER PLANS OVERTURN OF GERMAN GOV'T

Bruening Cabinet May Be Defeated by Union of Opposition

NATIONAL SOCIALIST WOULD BE DICTATOR

HARZBURG, Germany, Oct. 12 (AP)—Adolf Hitler, leader of the National Socialists, declared war on Chancellor Heinrich Brüning Sunday and let it be known that he is willing to be Germany's Mussolini.

One of his lieutenants also declared that Alfred Hugenberg's Nationalist, Social Credit, Hitler, and other Nationalist organizations were merely welcome instruments for seizing power legally, but would be thrown into the discard after fulfilling their temporary functions.

IN GRAVE DANGER

By EDWARD L. WILSON
(Copyright, 1931, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—The life of the Brüning Cabinet is in grave danger. The decision by numerous hitherto uncertain groups to vote against the Chancellor has brought pressure from the side of the economists. The result is, according to arithmetic, that Chancellor Heinrich Brüning may lose by a few votes. On the other hand, he may win by the same majority.

The opposition to the Chancellor is the unnatural partnership of the so-called National opposition with the Communists and small bourgeois parties representing the economic interests. The Communists oppose all middleclass cabinets on principle. The National Opposition, captained by Alfred Hugenberg and Adolf Hitler, has managed to unite a more serious opposition bloc than the German Republic has ever seen before.

BASIS OF UNITY

This opposition combines the National Socialists of Herr Hitler and Dr. Wilhelm Frick, Herr Hugenberg's Nationalists, national patriotic associations, like the Steel Helmet, without party affiliation, and a large section of the big business, the People's and the Agrarian party.

The basis of their unity is hatred of any policy which accepts Socialism, the principles of a particular type close to state capitalism. In foreign policy they oppose France and efforts at Franco-German co-operation, and with a direct understanding with and the support of the Anglo-Saxon countries.

Many of them are openly inflationary, and for a new definition of German currency others want an economically self-supporting Germany to be created by further monopolies and tariffs. Together they make a formidable group.

POLICE GUARD AGAINST BOMBS

Public Interest in Spain at High Pitch Over Church Question

MADRID, Oct. 12 (AP)—State troopers and police were guarding church and government buildings in several provincial towns tonight in anticipation of possible trouble when the National Assembly resumes consideration of the constitutional provision on the relations between the Church and the State tomorrow.

Police interest was at a high pitch everywhere. Police guards were maintained at Cordoba, Seville, Coruna, and many other places. Dispatches from the town of Badajoz, in Catalonia, said police were guarding religious houses following an attempt this morning to burn a church.

The newspaper La Nacion today predicted that President Alcalá Zamora would resign if the present religious clause proposed for the constitution was approved.

New Bulgarian Cabinet Formed

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 12 (AP)—Dino Grandi, Italy's Foreign Minister, like Premier Laval of France, will visit the United States for a general discussion of the world situation, it was announced today. Preparations for the Geneva International Conference next year also will be discussed at Washington by the Italian Foreign Minister, who with Signor Grandi, will sail from Naples on the liner Cone Grande, November 7.

Distinguished Passengers Disembark to Visit Canada

QUEBEC, Oct. 12 (CP)—Men and women who have achieved distinction in widely different walks of life were greeted here this evening when they disembarked from the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain.

Heading the passenger list were Lord Trenchard, newly appointed to head the Metropolitan Police of London; Rafael Sabatini, the author; Lord Rothermere, publisher; H. E. R. Rykner, Canadian Minister of National Revenue; Hon. Raoul Dandurand, former president of the council of the League of Nations; Hon. Rodolphe Lemire, former Speaker of the Canadian

NATIONALISTS ARE UNITING IN CAMPAIGN

Parties Beginning to Cooperate in Selecting Candidates Against Labor

LIBERAL Factions in BITTER DISAGREEMENT

LONDON, Oct. 12 (CP)—The Liberal factions are closing. All through the coming week the Conservative, Labor and some of the Liberal supporters of the National Government are getting together. "There is a spirit of co-operation abroad," it was stated in Conservative circles tonight, two weeks before the general election takes place.

There have been no further assurances during the day of straight fights between Government supporters and the Labor opposition. But between Conservatives and that faction of the Liberal party headed by Sir Herbert Samuel, Home Secretary and a Free Trader, the position is not so simple.

PROTECTIONISTS CO-OPERATE

While the Conservatives are operating wholeheartedly with Liberals under Sir John Simon who have embraced Protection, local Conservative associations hesitate to withdraw their candidates until they have been assured of the views held by Samuel. Headquarters of the Conservative party in the situation is not made easier by the reluctance of Sir Herbert and Ramsay Muir, chairman of the organization committee of the Liberal party, to agree to giving Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald a free vote.

The Liberal party is divided.

The badge of Darwin becomes still livelier. Speaking there tonight, Sir Herbert Samuel said if there is any general increase in the cost of living, he felt there would undoubtedly be reconsideration of the party's position in the unemployment benefit.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

Sir John Simon declared at Cheltenham tonight he had no intention of dealing with Sir Herbert Samuel's "gratuitous" attack. "A national crisis is far too serious for that sort of blustering—factual theorizing should be left to the background when you are far in fact over the overwhelming calamity which would overtake the country if the Socialists won. Let's put the first things first," he said.

The official Labor party expects to put 620 candidates in the field. Twenty-seven of these are women.

by Rev. G. F. Cox, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, in a frank and forcible address on the occasion of a special service arranged by the Victoria Ministerial Association in the First Baptist Church here yesterday morning.

Mr. Cox was speaking on the subject "The World Crisis and Its Political and Economic Life," called capitalism as well as labor, communism and socialism, and led a rapid-fire attack on the nation's drink bill, the "glitzy extravagances in tobacco, cosmetics and luxuries of all kinds," increasing gambling and its temptations to duality. The speaker said some of the moral causes of the worldwide crisis equally as grave as the political and economical causes.

"If God were to make a perfect order of society tomorrow, there are not the morals in the earth to keep it so. It all comes down to the moral character of the individual. If he is bad, it matters not what plants of evil he may have," the speaker emphasized.

Mr. Cox's comment on the national political life was: "Our political life ignores God. It shuns His Book out of our schools. It contemplates the laws of God by making legislation for parts and not for the whole. It is ignorant of favoritism. It opposes the poor and flouts the wishes of the people in the interests of the drink traffic. Our political policy in this Christian land is practically atheistic."

"Commercially we have also transgressed. God's command is: 'Thou shall not covet.' We have transgressed against capitalism. 'Not without reason is capital attacked. Capitalism, as a system, may be made the most beneficial of all institutions. It is built upon merit and efficiency; upon thrift and self-sacrifice. It is capable of being a heaven-sent organ of distribution in the interests of the poor. It is based upon both distributors and receivers. It might be a pillar and protector of the Lord's Day and of the Christian Church. Instead, what do we find? Capital has become atheistic and a curse. Losing the Spirit of Christ, it has lost its benevolence and is fast losing its love for man."

CUTTHROAT COMPETITION

"Commerce, conceived as a system whereby man could serve his fellow man, has become degraded into a mere means of gain and self-aggrandizement at the expense of others. Buying and selling are carried on in such ruthless forms of competition that the individual men are forced to the wall, while the rich get richer. Wages are forced down and down upon any and every pretext. Modern industry and capitalism show an ever increasing desire to so conduct their business as to cause the 'Lord's Day to be desecrated and His House deserted.'

"The nation, once a nation of the masses of the people have not been one whit behind their leaders."

"The great majority no longer attend church and to them Sunday is simply a holiday. 'This wonderful climate and unsurpassed scenery—God's rich gifts—have been perverted and polluted. The abundance of all things needful has been selfishly appropriated to man's own use,' he stated."

SINS OF LABOR

His reference to labor was, "Labor rails against capitalism, but labor has some of the very sins which have been the curse of capitalism: greed and selfishness. Is not the aim of the typical laborite to get as much as he can? What can he do? And when he has got all he can, he claims the right to fling his money about upon whatever his lusts and desires prompt him to. He disregards the Divine law. He breaks the Golden Rule and he robs God of the tithes and offerings due unto Him. Labor is one of the worst offenders today in causing labor to break the Sabbath Day by their Godless pleasure-seeking."

Speaking of Communism, Mr. Cox said: "The remedy lies not in the line of Communism." He was referring to the remedy for the world condition. "Its idea is to pull down everything built up by labor and destruction of classes until it lies in a heap of ruins and then attempts to build anew. That is the idea of fanaticism. The same man does not seize an axe and start to chop up his auto because the gas pipe is blocked. If men were to wipe it all away tomorrow and put a new system in its place, the world would be in a fix. What then would—I venture to predict it would fall to the ground for the selfsame reason that capitalism is threatened today; because of the human selfishness and greed that would mar it, and render it unworkable."

CHURCH NOT GUILTY

Mr. Cox did not spare the church and asked: "Is the church, as a world-wide institution, guiltless before God? Alas, we know she is not. She has drifted away from her original purpose of doctrine and example. She has lost her universality and holds God's word in supreme reverence. She has appointed professors to her colleges who are simply rationalistic agnostics. Things are said in Christian pulpits today which would make any decent man ashamed. She has lost her hold on the province by all who were fortunate enough to know him. With to express my keen regret at his passing and extend my sincere condolences to his bereaved family."

"I am indeed sorry," exclaimed Hon. C. F. Davie, president of the Legislature. "Mr. Buckham was a fine type of citizen, one that it was a pleasure to know. In his address, Mr. Cox referred to the address in Toronto on Oct.

THREAT OF WAR

NANKING, Oct 12 (AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek, President of China, in an address today asserted that if the Council of the League of Nations, convening in urgent session at Geneva tomorrow, failed to obtain "just settlement" of the Sino-Japanese controversy, "Chiang will resort to war."

TOKIO, Oct. 12 (AP)—The threat of war made today by President Chiang Kai-Shek, in a speech at Nanking, was made known to Japanese and Chinese diplomats as they conferred over possibilities of peaceful negotiations in the Manchurian crisis. They continued their discussions without comment on the bellicose declaration.

A spokesman of the Foreign Office, however, said the Government did not take seriously Chiang's assertion, saying Chiang had made similar pronouncements heretofore without anything happening.

GENEVA, Oct. 12 (AP)—League of Nations leaders congregated here tonight to devise measures to prevent Sino-Japanese conflict.

Strengthened by the presence of the Foreign Ministers of Great Britain and France—Lord Reading and Aristide Briand—the council convened in an extraordinary session this noon tomorrow to hear again China's persistent plea for intervention in Manchuria "to safeguard the peace of nations."

APPARENT DEADLOCK

Meanwhile the attitude of the Chinese and Japanese spokesmen constituted an apparent deadlock.

Receipt of United States Secretary of State Stimson's note, declaring that the United States would work independently to further the League's effort to bring peace to Manchuria, gave the greatest satisfaction to League officials.

The measure talked about tonight is the probable move by the council as a renewal of the proposal for sending a neutral commission to Manchuria. M. Yoshizawa, Japan's representative, flatly rejected such a proposal in September.

Nearly 80,000 people are now employed in the wool industry of Italy.

LONDON WILL REGAIN LOST
INDUSTRIESHon. R. Bruce Says Mighty Thames Is Attracting
Manufacturing PlantsNEW TARIFF POLICY
COMING IN BRITAIN

Hon. R. Randolph Bruce, former Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of British Columbia, is contemplating a round-the-world cruise, beginning on December 3, according to an interview given in Montreal on his return recently from a holiday trip to the Old Country. The former Lieutenant-Governor has completed sixty-seven sailings of the Atlantic Ocean, and his last visit to the British Isles was productive of some interesting comment on conditions there, because of his keen interest in economic development at home and abroad.

One of the most important changes noticed in England, was taking place in London itself, he explained, in the Montreal interview, not only on the streets of the metropolis, but along the banks of her mighty river, the Thames. For fifteen miles, extending from King George V Avenue to the Old Docks, factories have been erected on both sides of the stream. Many manufacturers in the north and other sections of the country have transferred their plants to London.

ACTIVITY ON THAMES

The reason, he said, was not difficult to find. Whereas factories were erected formerly in the vicinity of the river, reducing thereby the cost of fuel transportation. It has been found more economical to place them on sites attainable by ocean vessels. In order to compete with other nations in the export field, it has been found necessary to cut down the cost of carrying by rail the raw material and finished product. For this reason, London was regaining much of her former reputation for manufacturing. Even cotton mills from Lancashire were considering the establishment of their plants on the Thames.

TARIFF COMING

All difficulties and every section of the public were beginning to realize that Great Britain had to adopt some form of tariff policy. Mr. Bruce declared. This, of course, would be beneficial to Canada and for the British Empire as a whole, apart altogether from the advantages that would accrue to the Old Country.

On the subject of taxation, the former Lieutenant-Governor expressed some surprise. Everyone in Great Britain firmly believed that the limit of taxation had been reached. It was raised recently higher than the limit, and yet the country was not better off. There was nothing but praise for the British and their determination to conquer every difficulty and surmount every problem. The land was suffering from deep economic depression, but this could hardly be realized in certain sections. For example, numerous houses of fine appearance, being erected, alongside the new arterial highways. These, and other roads throughout the country, were also excellent.

BIDDING FOR TOURISTS

"During the Summer I motored 3,000 miles from Land's End (south-west tip of England) to John o' Groats (northeast tip of Scotland) and found nothing but the best roads," he said. "I completed the trip in twenty-eight days, for we were in no hurry, averaging about 110 miles a day, and can assure you that it was a most delightful journey. Furthermore, the hotels and inns en route were of the best, the service all to be desired and the food good. British service is giving close consideration to the development of their tourist traffic, and is justified, for she has much to offer in respect of attractions."

Mr. Bruce had many happy words to say of Viscount Byng, Chief Commissioner of Metropolitan Police and head of Scotland Yard. His resignation was received with the deepest regret by the public, he commanded for the last few years, when he was popularly known as "Byng's Bonny Boys." They had all immense pride in Lord Byng, whom they considered as one of themselves, and appreciated his firm endeavor to raise the status of the constabulary. Lord Byng, in his report to the government, had performed a fine feat in reorganizing the metropolitan police, but his health has suffered in the process. "I saw him shortly before I sailed, however, and noticed that he had greatly improved," said Mr. Bruce.

TRAFFIC IN LONDON

Traffic regulation in the metropolis was highly efficient, he said, in paying a further tribute to the road and transportation improvement which has taken place along Oxford Street, as traffic lights have been installed at street intersections, together with bells, which ring with each change to warn pedestrians.

Although Mr. Bruce has no information, visiting British Columbia agents at this time, he expressed much interest in the province, and particularly in plans for extending the Pacific Great Eastern Railroad to Vancouver in the south and to Prince George, Finlay Forks and the Peace River territory in the north.

GANGES RESIDENCE
DESTROYED BY FIRE

GANGES, Oct. 12.—The house belonging to Mr. and Mrs. T. Shore, on Rainbow Road, Ganges, was recently destroyed by fire, and within half an hour was burned to the ground. It had been occupied for some time by Mrs. Shore's son, Cecil Aubrey, who was attending a meeting of the F.M.C. Nothing was saved in the building, but it is understood the house is covered by insurance. Mr. and Mrs. Shore are at present holding a position with G. Levings, of North Salt Spring. Mr. Aubrey is the guest temporarily of Mrs. Oxenham, of Ganges.

said. They were in his bones, and "I shall be Labor at my death." "But I have a mind and conscience of my own and I will not be a slave to the party cause," Mr. MacDonald continued. "I had no qualms of conscience for the steps I took in forming the National Government. I should do it again again and again."

RECALLS EARLY STRUGGLES

Replying to those who have criticized even his early work for the Labor party, the Prime Minister mentioned his wife, who has been dead many years.

"In those days we had to pay for the postage of the Labor party," he declared. "We bought out of our own pockets my wife and I—the postage on mail, on which Labor's work was done. We borrowed money to buy coal-scuttles to sit upon at Labor meetings at our home. Now you criticize the men who exercised their will power and conscience in a time of national crisis."

The Prime Minister declared the formation of the National Government proved to the whole world the strength of Britain's democracy in a time of emergency, and he appealed for another such demonstration on October 27, when the voters go to the polls.

PROBLEMS TO BE FACED

He said the National Government must keep the budget balanced, reduce borrowing, stabilize the value of the pound, and, finally, correct Britain's adverse balance of trade.

"So far the behavior of sterling has been admirable," he continued. "There is no panic because the Government is doing its best for the whole world. If such record confidence goes, the result will be inflation."

DELAY WAS COSTLY

Recalling that the Hoover debt moratorium—which he described as a great mistake—had been put through in a hurry, because European nations were cracking one after another. The Premier said French opinion was not ready for it, and before France decided to accept, the beneficial effects had been

SHOWED PROFITS

After deficits totaling $42,211 between 1925 and 1927, inclusive, the bridge produced a profit of $38,326 in 1928, $40,000 in 1929, and $42,000 in 1930. The total revenue in 1930 was $200,000, which included $42,000 profit after all operating expenses, depreciation, sinking fund and interest charges had been met.

April of this year officials of the bridge company went to Ottawa and their request for a loan of $200,000 to enable the bridge to be repaired to carry traffic, pending ultimate arrangements in connection with its final design. Negotiations have been carried on steadily since that date, until the present.

North Shore officials say that if the bridge is not reopened they will have to pay out large sums in legal expenses and interest on their pledges, as well as suffer heavily from loss of business and lack of road and rail connection across the inlet. North Shore ratepayers have pledged $1,300,000 of the $2,000,000 laid out on the bridge and stand to lose heavily if the work is not proceeded with at this date.

Frederick William Ella, of 1156 Fort Street, and member of one of Victoria's oldest families, passed away Sunday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

The deceased was sixty-five years

After being associated with the Hudson's Bay Company for a number of years, Captain Ella became one of British Columbia's first pilots.

Mr. Ella was educated at the Boys' School and was engaged in business in this city for a great number of years before retiring. As a member of the Elks and the Native Sons of British Columbia he was well known among lodgemates of this city.

Surviving him are his widow; one brother, H. R. Ella, of 1156 Fort Street; a son, George D. Nesbitt, and a niece, Mrs. Spencer Barnes, of Vancouver.

TRADE WITH AUSTRALIA

Australia has sent a good will ship to this country laden with a full cargo, the object being to show in what commodities commerce between the two countries can be expanded under the terms of the Canadian-Australian trade treaty. When the vessel sailed from Melbourne it was made the occasion of a good deal of publicity, a great deal more, in fact, than has been given to such trade development in this Dominion. Mr. Scullin, the Australian Prime Minister, at a luncheon given by Mr. D. H. Ross, Canada's trade commissioner, said the treaty was the result of a policy put forward at the Imperial Conference last year by Mr. R. B. Bennett and himself. He expressed the belief that the trade treaty would do much to forward the principles of trade among the countries of the British Empire. He asked the traders of Canada and Australia to remember that the Canadian Constructor—the vessel in question—was not carrying goods only but a cargo of good will as well.

The goods are for display and sale throughout Canada. This country is reciprocating in kind. A vessel is leaving Eastern Canada on a similar mission. It is rather unfortunate that Australia's good will ship is not visiting British Columbia and that this province has made no arrangement to have any of its products represented on the good will ship which goes from Canadian shores to Australia. British Columbia is the province which stands to gain most through the trade treaty among the provinces of the Dominion, and, therefore, should be the most active in going out after the trade which will offer in the future.

MR. JOHN A. BUCKHAM

Those of every political persuasion who have either worked with or knew Mr. John A. Buckham, the Liberal member for Columbia in the Provincial Legislature, will hear of his death with the deepest feelings of regret. He was a man who in his private, business and political life was well liked and respected for his fair-mindedness, his charitable view of problems and his unfailing sincerity. He was Speaker of the Legislature for some four years, and in that post of honor was esteemed by every member of the House and conducted its deliberations with decorum and an intuitive regard for its dignity.

The late Mr. Buckham had been a business man in Golden for a lengthy period and remained there until compelled to come to the Coast in search of renewed health. He was always a keen enthusiast for British Columbia's progress, and particularly the progress of that portion of the province where he had made his home for so long. In his death the Liberal membership of the Legislature loses one of its best-loved characters, and British Columbia is the poorer by a staunch citizen. Mr. Buckham was always numbered among those politicians at whom no finger of reproach can be pointed. He was honest itself, and his ability to view the various issues that arose in a dispassionate way, without allowing political predilections to hold sway, rendered him an asset to his party. He was, indeed, more concerned about the best methods of development in the province than with the political advantages which Liberalism might derive from any course of action pursued. In the loss of such a man the sympathy of all British Columbians will go out to the members of his family.

FISCAL PROBLEM IN U.S.A.

That country, which less than all others, is facing the facts of the economic situation, is the United States. Her budget deficit last fiscal year was not far short of a billion dollars. She is facing a billion and a half deficit for the present fiscal year. Her former deficiency was made good by borrowing, but, going into debt, does not imply economy. Her trade returns are falling heavily. She is faced with an unemployment problem during the coming Winter more gigantic than that of any other country. Some estimates are that the Government will have to provide for 10,000,000 out of work.

Britain has now turned away from the policy of spendthrift self-pursued by her late Labor Government, and is again footing her internal bills just as she has always footed her external ones. The time must come when the United States will have to follow suit. Even a country so wealthy as the United States cannot go on meeting huge budget deficits by the mere expedient of borrowing, for every new loan for such a purpose means a greater deficit in the succeeding fiscal year. It is only a question of a very short time before the United States will be brought face to face with a tremendous financial problem which hoards of gold cannot solve. Over spending in a period of contracted revenues has but one ultimate result. It leads to bankruptcy unless drastic policies are adopted. These policies mean in the United States, no less than in Britain, heroic economies and increased taxation.

BRIDLE PATHS

It is a small thing that those interested are asking in the matter of the provision of bridle paths for the horseback riders of the city. There is a question of the expenditure of only a few thousand dollars, and all the money would go in labor, a fact which is of interest at time when there are widespread expenditures on unemployment relief. Certain paths that could be made have been outlined. They are located not only in Victoria but in the adjoining municipalities, and it is a matter of co-operation by the authorities concerned to secure their provision. In fact, the undertaking is one to which the four municipalities, sometimes described as Greater Victoria, could well be expected to subscribe out of unemployment relief funds.

Horseback riding, among the healthiest of exercises, continues to have a wide appeal, but there are very restricted limits within which it can be indulged in this vicinity. Those limits can be extended with a very trivial expenditure. The facilities provided for such exercise anywhere constitute a good advertisement. Victoria has all too contracted opportunity for many of those recreations which can be indulged in pleasantly and profitably elsewhere. That is one reason why the tourist trade here has not developed to the extent that it should. A policy of providing the desired bridle paths would be a move in developing a facility for a recreation which retains its popularity anywhere. Our City Council and the Reeves and Councils of the adjoining municipalities should perform the trivial service asked for without any demur.

A DRAMA FESTIVAL

Victoria is to stage a British Columbia Drama Festival during the coming Winter season, and it is a move which will undoubtedly attract popular support and which should become an annual institution. The movement has been launched by those in the city who are interested in the development of the drama. The first festival is to be held early in the new year. The aid of all those organizations, whose purposes are germane to the matter in hand, is to be enlisted, and already many have signified their intention of co-operating. The purpose is to secure such co-operation eventually from all organizations in the province who have the improvement of the drama as a goal.

The drama festival will include contests extending over several days, in which all those who take part will give their services gratuitously. Special encouragement is to be given to those who produce the works of Canadian dramatists, with emphasis laid on the drama written in this province. The idea is well worthy of the interest that it should evoke in any community which desires to foster the drama. It will prove an incentive to histrionic art and to literary production. In the inception of the idea Victoria has started a provincial-wide movement which should command the success that is due to the merits of an educative scheme of such a character.

UNAFRAID

My Muse but once a year her wings may spread, And take her flight, by circumstances led. Through various fields of comment; and 'tis clear, Such rare excursions mark the fading year; As when the harvest moon lights up the sky, And Autumn tints proclaim Time's passing by.

The world is out of joint, but that's not new, A poet years ago expressed that view.

Another, harking on the well-worn theme, Tells how "Agley off gangs the best laid scheme." These lines, penned in my country's hour of need, May point a moral. He who runs may read.

The rough North Sea, with storm and tempest cur'd, Shall not breed the finest seamen in the world; Taught men endurance, hardihood and skill, To battle 'gainst adversity. The will To over come the world, fight relentlessly each passing hour.

What threatens to overwhelm their enterprise, Till cloud and wrack give place to smiling skies.

Shall we reared on the self-same English shore, See the traits of that great land that bore And bred us? Or shall we, when clouds appear

To dim the sunlit skies, give way to fear, Grow timid at the ill which round us spread, And ostrich-like, seek where to hide the head?

May; rather let us hear Fate's strokes so shrewd, And cry "My head is bloody but unbowed!"

Each cloud a silver lining has, we're told,

And many other saws in English lore,

All teach us that hard times have come before.

And every ounce of effort, till we gain

Then let us cease to worry. Care, 'tis said,

Fatal to poor pussey; but instead,

Let's try to smile, if but a facial twist

Is all that one can muster, don't despair,

By constant practice it may grow full face.

And cheer another fellow-runner in the race.

—H. S. to J. M., Longwood Hall, Sept. 18, 1931.

A Primrose Day Society has been formed at Edmonton, "to sponsor and encourage throughout Canada by a suitable celebration the commemoration of the work and ideals of Benjamin Disraeli, the Earl of Beaconsfield." By R. B. D.

Where law ends, tyranny begins.—William Pitt.

Let us consider the reasons of the case, for nothing in law that is not reason.

Reason is the life of the law; nay, the common law itself is nothing but reason.

The law, which is perfection of reason.

being drunk by people who would never have thought of touching it but for the statutory injunction.

The moral effect of that unnatural law has bred disregard for many other laws and produced a state of general lawlessness which is the despair of statesmen as well as sincere moral "uplifters."

If laws are sometimes tyrannical as well as unreasonable, custom may become quite as unreasonable and tyrannical as laws. If people were not accustomed to receiving their morning paper every lawful morning of the year excepting two, and making a row with the circulation department if they did not get it, we should not have had an opportunity of making notes of the other things illustrative of the peculiarities of human nature. The things we saw indicated the difference between animal nature and human nature and convinced us that it might have been much better for human beings if in the beginning it had been ordained that every created thing should have been governed in its actions by instinct.

The ordained difference between the creature of the higher order and the creatures of the so-called lower order is that man is supposed to govern his actions by reason and common sense, while the beasts are governed in their actions entirely by instinct.

The consequence is that the beasts are more unhappy than that of a policeman when there is a consular duty to be done. There are but two holidays in the long year when this paper is compelled to suspend publication (at the dictation of the all-powerful printer—Labor Day and Christmas Day), and we have been subjected to many a wiggling on the mornings after those holidays by wrathful subscribers who demanded to be told why they had not received their paper.

Travelers Divide
In Opinions Over
Orient Situation

Some Blame China, While Others Believe Japan Responsible for Trouble in Manchuria—Unbiased Views Expressed in Editorial Columns of Prominent Hongkong Daily

Passengers arriving from the Orient yesterday on the Empress of Asia had divided opinions as to the situation developing between Japan and China. Some were inclined to think the Chinese were not being treated right by the Japanese, while others were of the opinion that the Japanese were justified in taking the drastic measures already effected.

It was recalled that the case of Nakamura, the Japanese army officer who disappeared mysteriously and precipitated an incident very similar to that of John Thorburn, who passed out of existence near Shanghai. Both cases are creditable to the Chinese authorities, it was pointed out, and demonstrated to the world the insecurity of foreign life in China and the lack of responsibility on the part of the several Chinese governments. All agreed that the conditions prevailing in China made it difficult to prevent such outrages.

The fact that there is good reason to believe that on the part of travelers to, and residents of, the Orient is better appreciated after reading an editorial in The South China Morning Post, of recent date. It stated in part, when referring to the two very similar cases mentioned:

VACILLATING POLICY

"At the same time the evasions, the distinctions, the vacillations, the resistance to demands for thorough investigation and punishment of the guilty parties have irritated foreign opinion and further damaged China's prestige. While the two cases (Nakamura and Thorburn) are somewhat similar, the Nakamura case is by its significance elevated in importance and invested with graver problems.

"The incidents in Manchuria must be given its place in correct perspective. The Japanese are accused of behaving as though they owned the territory, and of contributing to a long succession of incidents and counter-incidents between the parties interested and all contributing to a great and final clash.

"The matter of the recent Korean riots, which for once put China in the position of a deeply aggrieved party, had not yet been settled, nor was the Chinese able to make any progress for the assassination of Chang Tao Lin. It is difficult to decide whether China or Japan is the long-suffering party. Undoubtedly the Chinese have for some time been the brunt of a policy of pricks designed to make Japan as uncomfortable as possible in her Manchurian holdings, while Japan has quietly and progressively continued to strengthen her hold on her 'special interests.'

PROBABLE WAR AREA

"As to the fundamental causes, Japan's claim of 'special interests,' the world seems inclined to recognize. Unfortunately, however, there is no clear definition of them, and Japan is accused of designs extending to annexation. The Japanese Government, however, appreciates the difficulties. It knows that to colonize and garrison Manchuria, the only really important one will be that which is chosen as the last straw. As to whether the great clash will come, it would appear that the time has not yet arrived. The Mukden affair is being localized, as all others have hitherto been. China realizes her weakness and, as usual, perfides plays the part of discreditation.

It knows that to colonize and garrison Manchuria,

RIGHT TO LIVE

"Thus Mr. Hosono Shigematsu, a Japanese writer, in a recent article admits that Manchuria is Mongolia is absolutely essential to Japan's existence, and views like these have taken deep root in the Japanese mind. 'Every nation has a right to live,' says Mr. Hosono, 'an absolute right of which it cannot be deprived, even by God.'

"Chineses in Hongkong, however, are saying that the Mukden affair is the result of Japanese designs to Tokio, and designed to cripple Chang Hsueh-Liang and permit Canton's Northern allies to rise. Whatever the truth of this accusation, it must be agreed that so far as China's domestic state is concerned, any Japanese action can only serve the set of war lords to make room for another.

"Admitting that Japan's economic position is rapidly becoming desperate, that Manchuria is empty and suitable for Japanese settlement, and that China, having made so little use of the province deserves to lose it, nevertheless Manchuria is recognized as Chinese territory and any argument can remove the moral ban to annexation by another country, whatever that country's right to dominate the area.

"The Chinese point with some logic to other empty spaces in the world which Japan might equally honorably covet; and they allege that Japan insists upon her position in Manchuria because she is afraid to let to foreign states disputes with the owners of those other empty spaces. In support of that allegation they quote the encouragement which Japan from time to time receives for her Manchurian designs from certain foreign nations which are alleged to prefer that Japan shall dominate Manchuria rather than dominate the area.

"The Japanese patriots' attitude appears to be that they will meet the other nations as soon as they have strengthened Japan's domestic position. It is significant, however, that though China in her weakness presents no serious obstacle to the first part of the Japanese plan, Japan hesitates. In addition to her realization of the natural difficulties involved, Mr. Hosono explains another reason why, when he says 'War should be risked, even if there is danger of Soviet Russia or the United States taking sides with China against Japan.'

"It is fortunate that China is not strong enough to be a major power in the world, else the whole world might very quickly be again ablaze. It is a truism that war should be expected whenever nations are in economic distress. 'In time of trouble at home, make war abroad' is an old prescription. With economic problems mounting day by day on every side, the world is as so much tinder. It is, therefore, devoutly to be wished that responsible opinion throughout the world will combine to enforce restraint."

SHORTENING OF WORKDAY WEEK URGED

First drawing a picture of teeming thousands of hungry men and women walking the streets of big industrial centres, hopelessly looking for work while the gaunt figure of starvation stalked behind them, Charles P. Howard, of Indianapolis, president of the International Typographical Union, appealed to organized labor to help find a solution to the present unemployment in a masterful address given at a banquet of the Victoria Typographical Union, Sunday evening.

"We have men, women and children suffering from insufficient food and clothing while tons of food are wasting in market places, cold storage plants and rotting in the field," Mr. Howard said.

"The real attempt so far has been made to balance surplus wealth with unnecessary privation. There is no reason why such a condition should exist," Mr. Howard said.

"With machines lying idle and capital waiting for an opportunity to be invested."

The I.T.U., with its 78,000 members, was not in such great distress as some other organizations, as its members were helping its own unemployed, Mr. Howard declared.

The I.T.U. had done a great deal to pioneer social legislation. The Printers' Home had performed a great service in recuperating those real destitutes because it is difficult for us to picture what unemployment really means unless we ourselves have had that experience within the past few years.

MEN DISPLACED

Until recently, industry centred its attention on production for profit, with little thought for the person who produced. Mr. Howard said: "It was forgotten that the industry also deserved consumption by the very fact that it could not consume."

It was when men in thousands had been displaced by machinery, which was only able to produce and not consume, that industry, bankers and financial interests began to talk of accepting the philosophy that organized labor had been on-devouring to incalculable for the past twenty-five years.

Mr. Howard did not hold the workers altogether blameless. He said that they had too much temporizing with the management, but no determined fight had been made to combat this economic evil until it was now imperative to find a solution.

Mr. Howard said that employers were coming to realize that such organizations as the I.T.U. and the C.I.O. had a permanent solution of the unemployment problem, namely, shorter hours, so as to absorb those workers displaced by machinery. Adoption of such a scheme would reverse the purchasing power of the masses and turn the wheels of industry, he concluded.

SCREEN STARS VISITORS HERE

William Boyd, Dorothy Sebastian, H. G. Cummings, Lola Ray on Vacation

Several motion picture celebrities were visitors to the city yesterday when Mr. and Mrs. William Boyd, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Cummings, arrived here from Los Angeles on a short vacation.

Mr. Boyd has just completed a picture for RKO, while Mrs. Boyd, known to screendom as Dorothy Sebastian, has just completed a picture for Columbia Pictures, Inc., entitled "Unwanted." Mr. Cummings is a well-known playwright, and his wife, Lola Ray, also is a popular screen star.

The party is unable to stay here longer than a few days, as Mr. Boyd has a contract with the RKO lot to work in the new Pathé picture, "Timber Beasts," a story of the Northwest lumber camps.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd were charmed with their visit to Victoria and were impressed by the grandeur of the Northwest. "Your scenes here are unsurpassable and there is no question in my mind that there are possibilities here for motion picture production," Mr. Boyd said.

SCOTLAND YARD HAS
REQUEST TO SOLVE
GHOULISH MYSTERY

LONDON, Oct. 11 (AP)—Scotland Yard has received a most strange request in a long history. The Finnish Government sought the aid of the famous detective organization in solving the mystery.

of a series of mutilations of bodies in various Helsinki cemeteries.

The corpses were thought to have been exhumed surreptitiously by members of a secret organization practising "black magic." Operations of the organization extended outside of Finland, which led the Helsinki Government appealing not only to Scotland Yard but to the police of several foreign countries.

"I thought you had sold your motor car."

"No, I exchanged the machine for that horse over there."

"But you seem to have both the car and the horse."

"Yes, I made a contract that the car would be exchanged for the machine every time he got stuck or broke down. Finally he owed me so much that he sent the car back as part payment."

HOME PRODUCTS CAMPAIGN ENDS

F. Partridge Announces Increased
Demand for B.C. Manufactured Goods

"Buy B.C. Products" week had an outstanding success, Frank Partridge, chairman of the Canadian home products group of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, declared at the conclusion of the campaign.

Unquestionably more support of British Columbia and Canadian products has been given to the campaign, Mr. Partridge said.

L. F. Champion, field secretary of the B.C. Products Branch of the Vancouver Board of Trade, was particularly pleased with the response given to the campaign by Victoria merchants and the generous manner in which they supported it.

Victoria displays in the window and radio advertising had been great helping factors in making the home products week a success, Mr. Partridge stated.

Questionable support of the home products campaign was given by the Standard

Brands Limited, Fredericton, N.B.

and the Standard Brands

Division, Montreal, Quebec.

Mr. Partridge said.

The astrological signs of October 13 are to some extent factors, and some uneventful conditions may arise, especially in business. Quick decisions will have to be taken in order to avoid disaster. In the home the atmosphere may be clouded, but, after sunset, it will clear and peaceful conditions will prevail. Unexpected travel is indicated.

Accuracy, calmness in general, consideration for others, and a sympathetic nature will characterize the child born on this October 13. It will be self-contained, with great reserve forces, not at all demonstrative, but loyal and constant. Its horoscope—be it boy or girl—denotes a life well and successfully spent.

October 13, 1937

is naturally humorous and a congenial and lively companion. You, like everyone else, have your fits of depression, but no outsider is permitted to glimpse them, or is made to suffer by them—not even in the imagination. Your ideals are high; your ambition is great; to realize the one or satisfy the other, you do not find it necessary to give yourself any airs of importance or dignity. You achieve more by a smile and a cheerful word than is ever gained by pomposity.

You travel a great deal, both mentally and materially, thereby. You have a warm, passionate nature, and lucky is the man or woman with whom you mate. Endowed with practical common sense, you can demonstrate it in a light—rather than heavy—manner. On life's stage you are a comedian not a tragedian.

You are fond of reading, and can express yourself well and entertainingly. You are intelligent, fairly industrious and conscientious. Your chief asset, however, is your attractive personality. Your serene, cheerful attitude in the face of difficulties will hold sway over those who take life seriously. You are appreciated by all, and has often converted a seeming failure into an outstanding success.

De Costa Stars as 'Rep' Eleven Draws With Visiting Team

Youngster Turns In Sparkling Performance Between Sticks for Locals as They Battle to 1-1 Deadlock Against Kerrisdale in Thanksgiving Day Football Exhibition

Barney Burns Scores Local Tally

Dazzling the fans with one of the finest exhibitions of goal-tending witnessed on a local scale for many a day, Louis De Costa, the city's present custodian, was the shining light of the intercity football feature yesterday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park, when the Victoria "Rep" eleven battled to a 1-1 deadlock with the strong Kerrisdale Merchants, of Vancouver. Close to 1,000 fans watched the game and were treated to some brilliant football by both teams.

Not since his spectacular display last year against St. Saviour's in The Province Cup series has De Costa turned in such a great exhibition. He broke the hearts of the Kerrisdale forwards in many times during the second half that they shook their heads, wondering what they were up against. He dashed to and fro in his goal, displaying brilliant saves, and the crowd gave him a great hand as he left his net at the end of the game.

LOUIS DE COSTA

From the start, Victoria pressed and in rapid succession "Scoty" Stewart, Glancy and Gibbons tested the opposing goalie, but he was safe. Vancouver then switched the play and when Kerrisdale had a great opportunity, just on nearing the goal they were a little unfinished. They had many chances, but inaccurate shooting spoilt what opportunities they had. Corlett took a fine cross from Turness in front of the goal, but skied over the bar with only De Costa to beat. Glancy worked through several and centred, but his teammates shot wild. Once Glancy rocked the uprights with a rifle shot, while Bob Stewart just grazed the bar with a hard drive. Play was fast during the remainder of the half, but no score resulted.

Vancouver went out to score early in the second half and would have piled up a substantial lead had it not been for the

CLASS "B" RIDER CAPTURES TROPHY

VANCOUVER, Oct. 12.—Doug Cliff, Class B rider, won the Dr. Moody bicycle racing cup today for the third time in a row, 17.5 seconds, besting the Class A winner, Frank Elliott, by three seconds.

The Class A riders got off to a close start and were bunched to the cricket pitch, when Frank Elliott led the pack. When he took the lead, he held it to the big hill, where Johnson made his bid for honors. The race was fast and the field of nine riders were well bunched.

As they came around the Lost Lagoon, the field still bunched, but Johnson, a bad spiker, pulled through and came in across the finish line and wheel with Syd Luck, who took second place, with Len Rush, of Victoria, at a close third. Class B got away to a good start, but soon after the big hill passed Cliff pulled into the lead, which he maintained to the end of the course, although challenged on several turns by Alex Sinclair and W. C. Howell, who came in second, some distance behind the first rider. Jack Nicholson, who had been running across the line sprinting hard.

Just before the first bunch of riders were sent away the crowd stood for one minute in remembrance of Don Sutherland, local motorcycle rider, who died Sunday, and Dr. Glenden Moore, donor of the cup bearing his name.

McMillan refereed and the teams follow:

Kerrisdale—Stewart; King Hill—

—Morley, Whyte, McNeil;

Roots, White, Corlett, Munro and Turness.

Victoria—De Costa; Harper, Leggett; Viggers, Joe Crowe, Smith; R. Stewart, S. Stewart, Burns, Gibbons and Clancy.

Twenty-Nine May Start In Famous Cesarewitch

Historic Distance Race Will Be Run at Newmarket Tomorrow—Friendship Lukewarm Favorite—Blue Vision Second Choice

NEWMARKET, England, Oct. 12 (CP)—Twenty-nine good long-distance racers are probable starters in the ninety-second renewal of the Cesarewitch Stakes here on Wednesday afternoon. The race is over the two-and-a-quarter-mile route.

McMillan broke through to the finish. Both played a dive for the ball. Bellis, who had a long run on the dead man, snatched up the pigskin and raced thirty yards for a touchdown. A place kick for the extra points failed. Nibley gave New Westminster their second and last point shortly after a kick to the deadline.

Early in the third quarter, Lunnings lifted a barge pole behind Dodekas' goal line and the receiver was rouged here before he could get away. Bellis heaved forward passes right and left during this quarter, and two of them picked out the air by Lunnings netted the Capitals a high one to the deadline near the end of the period to give Victoria its seventh point and the last score of the game. The teams:

Victoria—Skillings, Smith, Cox, McAllister, C. Forbes, Bellis, Horne, Hunnings, H. Engleton, Lemm, McMillan, L. Patrick, Pettigrew and Sturley.

JUNIOR JOKERS

DUNCAN, Oct. 12—In one of the fastest and best-played games seen here in a long time, Duncan Native Sons Whitewash and Victoria, in an Island League Junior football fixture here yesterday by a score of 3-0. The game was closer than the score would indicate. The visitors had rather the better of the play in the first half and were unlucky not to score, but Walton scored the first goal for the interval, after twenty-five minutes of play with a hot shot which gave the Jokers' goal no chance to save. In the second half the locals outplayed the visitors and the Sons Whitewash two more than the barbs. The score was badly towards the end of the game and only sensational goal tendings kept the score from mounting higher.

UNDER THE SURFACE

At this very moment, under the surface of Canadian business and economic conditions, many millions of hidden dollars lie buried by uncertainty and over-cautiousness.

Of Canada's ten millions of people nine millions decimal something-very-considerable— are still "on the job", steadily at work, drawing regular wages, or supported by those who are at work.

And spending less than they can well afford to spend.

This reluctance to buy was initiated by want of confidence and born through the "my job may go next" idea. This complex, multiplied by millions, has become a most formidable habit that is now being broken in the slowly gaining fight to reach anew our national prosperity.

This is the time—with gradual improvement evidencing a fuller and more reasonable measure of national confidence—to dig out and put back into useful circulation these hidden hoards of Canadian buying power.

The Daily Newspapers
are more powerful today than ever to eat through the outer crust of consumer resistance and reach the buying public which represents 90% of all our people.

Most Canadians are at work. They read their newspapers today with keener interest than ever before.
Reach them by placing your message in that atmosphere of vitality which the Daily Newspaper brings as no other medium can do.

FIRE HAZARDS ARE LESSENED

Success of Prevention Week
Campaign Due to Co-operation of Citizens

Executives of the Victoria and District Fire Insurance Underwriters' Association issue a statement thanking the citizens of Victoria for their co-operation during the Fire Prevention Week campaign.

Particularly were the efforts of the Junior Chamber of Commerce commended. D. W. Campbell, H. F. Hewett and Col. Brooke Stephenson were thanked for the series of talks they gave in the various Saanich schools, as was also J. M. Patterson, superintendent of Saanich schools, for accompanying the speakers.

Francis F. Fatt, secretary of the Underwriters' Association, said that the campaign had been most successful, and that results of various competitions in connection with the campaign would be announced later. Fire hazards in the city had been considerably lessened as a result of the campaign, he said.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

STILL ANOTHER JOB DONE BY THE LIVER

If you were asked which was the most important organ in the body, you might say that it was the brain because it directed all the work of the body, or perhaps the heart because it pumps the life-giving blood to all parts of the body, or again the lungs because they keep you alive by supplying oxygen. Even the stomach and intestine, which hold and digest the food, might be considered most important. And yet, from the standpoint of work, the liver is well named the "king of organs."

First we learned that it manufactured bile, which breaks up fat so they can be digested, is a natural antiseptic and is also a natural purgative.

Then we learned that the liver took starches from the blood and stored them up as sugar to be used when needed. Then we learned that the liver not only helped in the formation of the blood, but it actually took harmful substances from the blood thus preventing trouble there.

And now another discovery has been made at Stanford University, the Mayo clinic and elsewhere, that the liver, in addition to handling starches, also is a big factor in handling any of the products of the blood not only helped in the formation of the blood, but it actually took harmful substances from the blood thus preventing trouble there.

It was formerly thought that most of the meat and eggs were made up of the building up of muscle and other structures. It would seem that the liver is capable of so acting on them that further energy is derived from them.

When we remember the size of the liver the largest and heaviest organ in the body, remember that it holds one-quarter of all the blood of the body and all its different jobs, we can readily believe that it is entitled to be called the king of the organs.

And all you need to do to keep it in good condition is not to eat too much, but bend and twist the body, so that by squeezing the liver you will help it to do its work more effectively. Taking long, deep breaths is also helpful because this pushes the floor of the chest against the liver.

The social climbers had been invited to dinner at the house of a prominent local resident. As there was no one to look after little Tommy, it was necessary to take him along, too.

The meal started off well enough, but while Tommy was trying to cut the meat on his plate it slipped off onto the floor, and his mother's face flushed.

"Tommy," she whispered tensely, "you must apologize to Mrs. Suburban-Ayer at once. Get up and say something quickly."

The very modern child slowly picked the meat from the floor and said, "I'm sorry, Mrs. Ayres. It's funny, but tough meat'll always do that."
